Centre of Cardiology

The Centre of Cardiology offers high-quality diagnostic and treatment services for patients with heart diseases. All modern research and treatment techniques for the treatment of heart diseases are available in our centre. The Centre of Cardiology includes the cardiology department, the cardiology outpatient clinic and the heart research or functional diagnostics department. The heart failure and atrial fibrillation offices are located here (the first in Estonia) as well.

A health audit performed at the cardiology outpatient clinic gives you a good overview of your health and allows you to prevent health problems in the future. The health audit is primarily intended for busy working people who are interested in their health but whose schedule requires fast service and who need immediate information about their examination results.

In the functional diagnostics department of the Centre of Cardiology, the function and condition of the heart is assessed using various examinations. The doctors and nurses in our centre work in close cooperation with the thrombosis office as well.
